SWOT analysis

Strength

- Economically
- Mobilization of beneficiaries
- Improving the ability of land to hold water
- Rainwater Harvesting and Recharging water

Weakness

- Poor data collection strategy
- Less number of Training personnel

Opportunity

- Livelihood generation
- Project Implementation by WOTR

Threats

- Conflict between Management and people
- Lower Participation.
- Climate change

Vision – To make the life of the rural community resilient and sustainable, to improve the business of the farmers, as well as to enjoy the life of the villagers to a fuller quality within the ecosystem.

Mission – WOTR aims to end major causes of rural poverty by rejuvenating ecosystems and building community resilience to climate change.

Learning and Value addition

- Understood the water harvesting and project Jiwi Daah Hasa i.e., Life-water-soil.
- Leant about village living standard
- Worked at the grass root level

Suggestion: - For better implementation of the project we must make people aware about Watershed Management because villagers are not aware about MNREGA benefits. And thus, they are not participating in this project.

Usefulness of Internship

- Experienced about water usefulness through watershed management.
- Gained confidence while surveying and interacting with people.
- Practical exposure and bonding with professionals for future guidance.
